©2016 Words and Music by Allison Gordon Mastropieri

Filled with a spark, went for it all
Gave all you could and then gave some more
The plan for our lives is in the back of our minds
Minute by minute, a collection of time

Wish we could keep this time in a trust
And give our angel more minutes with us
Can a generous smile, genuine soul
Penetrate through the shock of it all

Your resonance of love, kindness and warmth
Makes me want to give more of myself
Your resonance of your affection of child
Makes me want to cry for awhile

The light from your eyes, the light from your heart
The light from your life will never depart
The light from your eyes will never fade
The light from your life will turn into
Happier, Happier days
